

BIOSECURITY at the National Western Complex

Please follow these measures of biosecurity from the National Western Complex to keep your horses safe:

- Do not use common water or feed buckets
- Park trailers and vehicles away from barn areas
- DO NOT have dogs at events
- Wash your hands before AND after touching animals
- Do NOT leave hoses on the ground
- Use hand sanitizer often
- DO NOT let hoses touch or drop into water buckets
- Use receptacles to properly dispose of needles and other medical devices

Exhibitors will sign an animal health declaration that their animals have not had any infectious symptoms prior to arrival.
